

First Day of School

_____ Teacher's Name

A _____ adjective _____ sound woke me up this morning. It was my alarm clock. As I came to, I remembered that today is the first day of school! I sure am looking forward to meeting my new _____, I thought. I wondered if any of plural noun them would be _____, _____, or adjective adjective
_____.
adjective

First I ate a _____ and found the perfect food / noun outfit to wear. Then, I brushed my _____ and put noun / body part my _____ on my feet. I _____ plural noun adverb _____ out the door. I was already running late for the verb
first day of school!

When I got to school the first thing I did was _____
verb
some coffee in the teacher's lounge. While there, the other teachers and I made plans to give each of our students _____
adjective
_____. Then we gave each other high-fives and went to noun meet our new students.

A Nervous First Day

_____ was nervous about the first day of student's name school. Even though she was looking forward to seeing her friends, she was nervous about _____. Surely, she couldn't teacher's name
be as _____ as everyone said. There were rumors adjective
that _____ students always had backaches from
teacher's name
_____ such _____ loads of verb adjective homework. _____ had heard kids complaining
student's name
about three to four hours of homework a night. Some kids said _____ wouldn't even let you leave class to go to
teacher's name
the _____. Other kids said _____ place teacher's name didn't believe in _____. And if you were caught
noun
_____ to a _____, you would both verb noun be sent to _____! _____ took a place student's name deep breath. She hoped _____ would not be quite as
teacher's name
_____ as everyone said.
adjective